Become a reseller

Cogitar Software has over the years been approached by professionals in all manner of industries about our products and the benefits they bring to their customers.

In order to recognise people who help introduce customers to iDirres, the foremost business tool of its time, we have instituted a reseller's programme.

The reseller's programme allows you to benefit from helping your customers, and to reap the rewards of working with Cogitar Software and our amazing iDirres software application.

We have a number of criteria when it comes to appointing resellers all of which go towards enhancing the overall attractiveness of the product to customers.

If you would like to know more, please contact Cogitar Software for more information on how you can work with us to help your customers.

Key benefits to your business:

- The people you refer to Cogitar Software will pay no more with you as a reseller
- You can enhance iDirres further by adding your services to it
- You earn commission whilst the customer uses the application, for up to three years
- Commission increases from 10% to an amazing 20% the more customers you introduce
- You can build a stronger client relationship on the strength of your recommendation
